CHOCOLATE AND COCOA.

American Manufacturers Taking the Home Market Away from the Foreign Makers.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The manufacture of chocolate and cocoa products in this country is rapidly becoming an important line of industry, much to the regret of foreign makers, who, up to a fairly re-cent period, were practically in control of the American market. For years, foreign manufacturers of chocolate and kindred goods in Holland, France, Swit-zerland and Germany found the United States a profitable field for the sale of their products. With increasing co sumption of chocolate in this country and profits accruing to foreign makers, American capital and enterprise be came interested, and a start was made to compete with foreign goods in do-mestic markets.

The Southern blast furnace operators with headquarters in Birmingham, Ala., with a capacity of over 1.300.000 tons, will ecoperate with the northern furnace operators to prevent an overproduction of iron, and will suspend operations to about the same extent.

duct in the use of alcohol at the rate of 24.75 per thousand, and colored troops at the rate of 11.70, the Malay scouts showed the extremely small admission rate of .82 per thousand.

The steadily-increasing prevalence of venereal disease is the most discouraging feature in the sick report of the army. During 1902, 13.000 admissions were from this cause alone, equivalent to a rate of 180.94 per thousand. Admissions to sick report from alcoholism in 1902 were slightly in excess of the number (including volunteers,) for 1901. A total number of 1830 cases, equivalent to 22.55 per thousand of strength, occurred. It is impossible not to attribute a large part of the steadily-increasing venereal disease of the army to the loss of the cunteen, where the solder, if he so defired, could get his beer throughout the month, but where he is not subjected to the temptations to intemperance and vice new attendant upon the expenditure of a full month's pay at the low resorts infesting the outskirts of our military reservations.

"A silght diminuation of insanity occurred in the army during 1902. Therewere 138 new cases, equivalent to the admission rate of 1.71 per thousand, which is almost identical with the rate for the decade 1891 to 1900."

The trust company authorised him to get the underwriting, which he did. Later the increased the underwriting to $4,750,000 at the request of the promoters, because, they said. London failed to take the $3,000,000 it promised to take. The purchase of the Bethlehem Steel Works for the Shipbuilding company was then discussed, Dresser stating that the overtures for the sale of the ateel company had been made by Charles M. NEWARK (N. J.) Oct. 7.—Suprem NEWARK (N. J.) Oct. 7.—Supreme Court Commissioner John A. Miller handed down a decision refusing to grant the motion of Assistant District Attorney Parker for the discharge of the cruiser Chattanooga, which is in the hands of the sherff of Union county, who seized it some time ago on attachments issued in favor of material men, who hold claims against it aggregating $34,102. The cruiser is in the Crescent shippards at Elizabeth, under construction. Dresser said Mr. Schwab told his believed the shipbuilding compan had a great future, and that he would be willing to put $2,000,000 more cash into the business if necessary.

When the French underwriting money did not materialize, Dresser appealed to Pann, counsel for Schwab, mentioning Schwab's promise and straing that unless $2,500,000 were forthcoming to make good the French underwriting, the Bethiehem Company could not get through. Pam suggested that they call on Perkins of Morgan & Co., who agreed to deposit the necessary amount in various institutions, though not as a loan to the promoters. They thus obtained $2,100,000. They pledged the security of the French underwriters, and Lew'ss Nixon, and he gave the notes. Dresser said only $27,000 was ever received from the French underwriters out of the $4,250,000 he had been assured would be forthcoming. If the French underwriters had fulfilled their obligations there would have been no trouble.

Schwab, he said, obtained control of the shipbuilding company by saiting had a great future, and that he would

Dresser said he had heard that an important envelope containing matter needed in this suit has been missed from the files of the Trust Company of the Republic, but declared he had nothing to do with the abstraction of these papers.

In cross-examination witness said he understood that he was given authority to borrow $4.000,009 on the credit of the Trust Company of the Republic, and that he had not been advised that it was a criminal offense, nor did he know it.

Early Decision Expected in Alaskan Boundary Case.

Tribunal Likely to Act Before the End of the Week.

One Day More of Dickinson' Long Argument-Interests His Acversaries.

IBY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) LONDON, Oct. 7.-[By Atlantic Ca ble.] By Thursday evening the Alas-kan boundary tribunal will probably have finished all its labors except the troversy before the adjournment of the afternoon session, after which the commissioners will consider the arguents among themselves in private They are not expected to take long be-fore announcing their decision or their disagreement. What influence the contentions have had on Lord Alverstone is naturally the chief point of interest, and surmise. Unless he sees some rea-son to disagree with the Canadian case, the tribunal can quickly agree to dis-agree. If the American case has im-pressed his Lordship, some interesting private developments are likely to oc-cur which may delay the decision. In any case the best informed opin-ion is that some result will be reached within two or three days after Counsel Dickinson has closed his arguments. The Americans interested in the case today expressed, though in a guarded manner, a more hopeful view than they have hitherto held.

DICKINSON'S FOURTH DAY.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

LONDON, Oct. 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Jacob M. Dickinson of the American counsel, though now on the fourth day of his speech, resumed his argunent before the Alaska Boundary Commission this morning, in excellent voice. He continued his contention as to the meaning of the term "Coast" as employed in the treaty, and in the negotiations.

All sides admit that Mr. Dickinson is making an excellent summing upfor the United States. He deals minutely with each point raised in the speeches of Atty.-Gen. Finlay, Solicitor-Gen. Carson and Christopher Robinson, K.C., of the Canadian counsel, endeavoring to retute each by means of countless references to legal authorities, and continues to hold the attention of the members of the commission and other auditors, interspersing his argument with humorousand other illustrations which are listened to with evident pleasure by Atty.-Gen. Finlay and other onposing counsel, and by the commissioners themselves: Mr. Dickinson emphasized the American contention on the meaning of the word "Coast" and concluded the morning session with declaring there could be no doubt, judging from the maps, that the coast line must run as claimed by the United States.

Mr. Dickinson during the afternoon maintained that all the maps showed a uniform understanding that the boundary line ran around the heads of all bays and inless. Each Mr. Dicknoon during the afternoon maintained that all the maps showed a uniform understanding that the boundary line ran around the heads of all bays and inlets. Each government concerned, during the seventy years following 1871 either put forward, or accepted as correct maps showing this. It was not until 1885 that Great Britain claimed the line should runelsewhere. The lease of the territory to the Hudson Bay Company left no doubt anent the understanding between Great Britain and Russia, regarding the extent of the lislere, (or strip which Russia was to obtain by the treaty.) which corresponded with the present American contention.

Mr. Dickinson expects to cenclude Thursday evening.

In Speech at Greenock He Says He Favors Free Trade, Provided it is Not One-sided-Success of His Campaign Depends on Colonies.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.] LONDON, Oct. 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Continuing his fiscal campaign Chamberlain tonight addressed a meeting of 4000 persons in the town hail of Gresnock, a seaport on the Clyds, twenty-two miles from Glasgow. He spoke for one hour and a quarter, and deaft particularly with the questions of stallation and reciprocity.

The late Colonial Secretary said that he was a free trader, and wanted to

One reason advanced for America's prosperity is her enormous population of 78,000,000, but the British Empire has 80,000,000 all white, and some 350,000,000 of other races, all prospective customers of the mother country."

In conclusion, Mr. Chamberlain said that he trusted the people in this matter. He had been told that he was risking his political life, but he had risked it before, and he had no fear for the personal result.

WEIGHING HIS ARGUMENTS.

WEIGHING HIS ARGUMENTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.] LONDON, Oct. 7.—While there is evidence of a rush on the part of the exponents of public opinion, or of the electorate to give Joseph Chamberlain's Bacai proposals immediate indorsement, there is ample proof of a desire Exhaustively to examine his programme and to accept or reject it on its merits, rather than on party lines.

It is realised that the attitude of the colonies is probably the most important factor in his scheme, and what they will say to his statement that they are prepared to contribute toward imperial preferential trade will largely determine the ultimate decision of this country. vidence of a rush on the part of th

rial preferential trade will largely determine the ultimate decision of this country.

The critics of the former Secretary for the Colonies claim that his whole diagnosis of the present state of the trade of the United Kingdom hangs on a statistical blunder in the comparison of the exports of 1902 with those of 1872. The latter year was notoriously phenomenal as an evport year because of the requirements of Germany and France after the war between those two countries, and it is pointed out that Great Britain furnished the great bulk of these and that her exports consequently bounded up from $1.115,000,000 in 1871 to $1,250,000,000 in 1872, after which they gradually receded to the same total as in 1871. It is therefore contended by the critics that the whole fabric of Chamberlain's argument is based on an elementary error, and that while his fiscal arithmetic is illogical, his promises are hypothetical and unproved. It is anticipated that the colonies will resent Chamberlain's suggestion that the colonial manufacturing growth should be thwarted for the benefit of British manufacturers. On the whole the former Colonial Secretary's pronouncement is not unfavorably received. The Stock Exchange opened ceived. The Stock Exchange opened with a better all-around tone. Con-rols hardened.

IMPORTANT LAND RULING.

AFFECTS MANY CLAIMANTS. IBY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.1 EUREKA, Oct. 7.-The Eureka Coun ty Land Office has received an import-ant telegram from Washington, as ollows:

"Deny right to make proof and payment, subject to right of appeal, and also subject to right to make proof and payment under pending applica-tion, if lands, applied for are hereafter tion, if lands, applied for are hereafter restored to entry."

(Sizned) "Acting Commissioner."

The relegram refers to lands recently reserved from entry. Under this order proof and payment must be refused upon any lands included in the forest reserves, subject to the right of appeal. The latter cannot be abrogated under this order, and those who have applications for lands included in the reserve are protected. That is, should this land subsequently be thrown open to entry, they have the prior right to prove up and make payment for it. This ruling is extremely important, as many of those who have applied for claims were about to prove up on their claims.

The deputy thought to save time by going up the trestle. When about half way up he noticed that some cars were coming down. He had no time to run back to the next pier, and only a moment to think and act. So he quickly dropped face down on the side of the trestle, and, clinging to the stringers awalted the on-rushing cars. He had to lean out over the chasm to prevent the swaying cars striking him. the swaying cars striking him

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN'S POLICY. The Glasgow speech of Joseph Chamberlain certainly leaves no doubt as to the main features of the fiscal policy which he has mapped out. The principal feature of this policy is tariff protection, and Mr. Chamberlain has "the courage of his con-victions." He is not given to euphusm, but expresses his views in plain, straightforward language.

The outspoken attitude of Messrs hamberlain. Balfour and their sunorters, in frankly declaring for an bandonment of the free trade policy by Great Britain, is commendable.
This very frankness and audacity will likely to help the cause advocated by Mr. Chamberlain, in the end, by provoking the fullest and freest possible discussion of the whole question; for it appears that Mr. Chamberlain has considerably the best of the argument, when the domain of facts and figures is called upon to yield its testimony. But the vigor with which Mr. Chamberlain insists upon the advantages of tariff protection as a neans of meeting existing conditions. must strike the average Englishman, with his free-trade preconceptions with something like a shock. If will be interesting to observe how far Mr. Chamberlain's newly announced protection dogmas will be able to make headway against the postulates of Cobdenism, which have so long passed current in England as the gospel of Mr. Chamberlain has opened his "campaign of education" with much aggressiveness and eclat. He must put forward some arguments that his opswer-if they attempt to do so. In his Glasgow speech, he showed that the export trade of Great Britain has enterprising private employers have installed long ago. The result is that increased only 71/2 per cent. since 1872. whereas the population has increased 30 per cent. during that period. Contrasting this moderate increase of exports with the enormous advances which protected countries-notably the United States and Germanyhave made in international trade during the past thirty years, Mr. Cham berlain pertinently asked how England "could expect to support its growing population with its trade practically stagnant for thirty years?

> "On the other hand, the protected countries which you have been told and I myself one time believed, were going rapidly to wreck and ruin, have progressed infinitely better in proportion than ourselves, and instead of, a Cobden believed, our remaining th workshop for the world, we are sending less and less of our manufactures abroad, while the protected countries are sending more and more of their manufactures here. Thus our manu-factured exports from £116,000,000 in 1872 have gradually dwindled to £73,-

000,000 in 1902, to the protected countries of Europe and the United States. "In the same proportion our exports to non-manufacturing countries like Egypt, China and South America have practically remained unchanged. Our colonial trade in fact is the most rapidly increasing, important and of all our trade. Meanwhile foreign exports to the United Kingdom have risen from £63,000,000 in 1876 to £142.-900,000 in 1902. I do not comment on that, but when I am told that we ought to hold the same opinions as our ancestors I reply that we should if the circumstances required the same. "Have you ever considered why Can-ada takes a much larger amount of British manufactures than the Gen. Chase of the Colorado National United States, Australia thrice as Guard has returned to his command much as Canada, and South Africa at Cripple Creek; and thus are the more than Australia? These are all peace disturbers of that camp in the protective countries. The vast majority of the workmen in the colonies are protectionists, and I am dislectined to industries. Then gradually primary industries, for which the country has natural facilities, grow up behind the spring up, first of necessaries, then of luxuries, until at last all the ground i covered. In the United States the pro-ess is completed. She produces every thing and excludes everything. Ther is no trade to be done with her for altry six shillings a head.

"Canada has been protective a long ime. The principal industries are there, and you can never get rid of them, but the secondary industries have not yet been created, and there is still an immense trade open to you to maintain and increase. Australasia is less developed and takes more than Canada. In the Cape there are prac-tically no industries. We can inter-vene now, but it is doubtful if we could intervene twenty years hence.

These are strong arguments, if no wholly convincing from the free trade point of view. But they are calcu-British voter than to the colonier The latter, if they read between the lines, cannot fail to note the apparer confession that the realization of the Chamberlain régime would tend to check colonial manufactures. What else could be the meaning of tatement that "Canada has been pro tective for a long time. The princi-pal industries are there, and you can never get rid of them;" also that "in the Cape there are practically n industries. We can intervene but it is doubtful if we could inter vene twenty years hence?" Are not he Cape colonists likely to interpret the statement, "we can intervene now," as a declaration, in effect, that y such intervention the creation of ndustries in the colony would be prevented, while the mother country rould supply the manufactured goods eeded? Mr. Chamberlain is evidently holding in his hands a two-edge may cut in directions other than he

"He's a contumacious cadgy, that's "He's a contumacious eadgy, that's what he is," declared Justice of the Peace Pierce, leaning over his desk and scowling. "He's too cheep to be recognized and too 'ornery' to count. But then, I am biased. The last six months of my residence in Arkansas I received on the average of one anonymous letter a day, to the effect that if I didn't get out of the State before the results a undown I'd walk the place. I didn't get out of the State before the ensuing saudown I'd walk, the plank into heaven before the next sun-up. So if you want a clean, straight-cut, fair and unjaundiced estimate of the individual who writes unsigned communications, you'd better ask someone else. And now please go, I am about to become violent."

"I have a whole drawerful of anonymous notes and letters," remarked a prominent lawyer. "They would be the making of a good magazine story. Some of them are silly, some victous, tew of any worth. Among the collection is one that spells tragedy. It fell into my hands through a local detective who had tried to hunt down the writer. The letter was sent to a husband whose beautiful and fascinating wife had been ruined by the writer while he was a guest in her house. Repenting of her sin, she broke off the friendship and forbade him her society. Enraged, he wrote an anonymous letter to the husband, hinting at the wretched sin of the wife. Several months after the happy home had been broken up, a child was born to the estranged wife. Its face told the name of its father. He fled in terror, she chose suicide. That's one sample of anonymous-letter writing. Not all are as melancholy as this, but evil intent or untrustworthy motive—and always the element of cowardice—are usually at the bottom of unsigned communications.

"If there is something to be told that ought to be told, the honorable man or woman will not resort to so despicable a trick as sending an anonymous letters. It's disjusting, contemptible, trousle-breeding and—sometimes—fatal."

Mounds to be Opened.

Kansas archeologists are preparing to explore the prehistoric Indian mounds on the Fort Leavenworth reservation. These mounds were first discovered about 1825 by Rev. Isaac McCoy, a missionary. They were afterward lost sight of, the dense growth of trees and underbrush completely hiding them from view, but a year ago George Remsburg, a Kansas archeologist, Jocated them again. An effort www made to have them preserved and properly marked by the government. Archeologists have now decided to open the mounds in the interest of historic research, and this will be done as soon as permission can be obtained from the government.—[Kansas City Journal.

THE "ANONYMOUS" CRANK.

Does anyone know the contemptible cust Whose letters we designate "Anonymous" This vilest of creatures that cumbers the earth-The seum of mankind ever since Adam's birth! Who sends out his slanderous missives in blank-The rascally, victous "Anonymous" crank!

What baser of mortals than he who will pen Anonymous notes to distress fellow-men; Who smiles with delight at the underhand deed, While scrawling vile letters for people to read? The devils of Satan fit comrades will rank With that too common pest, the "Anonymous" crank

We all have respect for the man wao will stay And declare to our face what he's aching to say Who speaks out his mind, and directs his attack To our personal selves, with no stabs in the back; Who's honest and fearless, both open and frank, Not classed with the measly "Anonymous" crank.

that when to the level of imps man will sink, Of such a low creature what good can we think? Who shoots nameless shafts and anonymous darts, To wound to the death many innocent hearts? . With such may the demons of Hades well rank-The odorous, slimy "Anonymous" crank.

Have You Heard About It?

We do the work and you furnish the material.

We started with one chair; now have four, and soon we will have the largest Dental Offices on the Coast. All our operators are graduated, licensed dentists in this State, and are experts

I cheerfully recommend the People's Dentists' process of pulling teeth to anyone needing work of that kind. I am a man well along in years, and dreaded having my teeth pulled because of being almost murdered in years past in having teeth extracted, but I can truthfully say there is no pain in the process they use. I had six drawn at once, and didn't know it until they were out. I pronounce it fine.

showed himself to be "all there most of the time. He seems to be in pretty good shape aiready, but will use the rest of his training time to the best possible advantage.

Reagan is a trimly-built fellow, without any superfluous meat anywhere, and his viry body stands upon a pair of remarkably-shaped pina. Johnny's knees do not knock, but if he ever got scared they certainly would beat the devil's tattoo on each other. However, the little frishman seems to be an indomitable sort of Turk, never having been introduced to Dame Fear.

After some hustling on the part of Boss Jack Doyle, who is running the Reagan camp, arrangements have been made for the exodus to Terminal today, where Reagan, expects to train with Capt. Harry Lynch and other local celebrities. Cap. Lynch is said to be able to handle most of the San Pedro huskies that wander over Terminalward hunting for trouble, and thinks a little scientific education on top of the gool old game of rough and tumble will do him no harm. Reagan will do most of his work in Baxter's sail loft, where Billy Woods once held forth.

U.S.C. THROOP GAME.

U.S.C. and Throop Institute are lining up now for their game at Frager Park on Saturday and the football players of other schools and colleges are taking almost as much intenset in the outcome as are the contending players, for judging from the play in general, the other teams will be able to judge just how hard a fight they must expect when they go against eitner of these teams in the future.

Every team that intends to play the year is putting in its best efforts the week and an active practice game is played every afternoon on some field. None of the local teams have selected their line-up so far, but this task will be finished tomorrow or Saturday. The Throop boys have been chosen for Saturday's game with U.S.C. and they will be as follows: Frampton, full-back; White and Tappon, half-backs, Elliott and Morris, ends; Smith and Shaffer, tackles; Crawkons, quarter-back; Lee, center. Coffee Club Finances.

An error occurred in the statement of the finances of the Coffee Club in this column on Tuesday. The finances show a deficit instead of a surplus, as stated. The patronage of the club is steadily increasing, and the proceeds are sufficient to meet all current expenses; but there are outstanding bills incurred for equipment and other expenses preliminary to the opening of the club, amounting to over $200. Another $200 at least is needed for improvements and additional attractions which will be installed as rapidly as funds permit. These amounts will be faised by donations from the friends of the work.

A vengeful meicreant threw a rock through a plate glass window in A. Harriw's pawnshop at No. 119 South Main street yesterday evening just at dark. Watches and other pledges making a dazzling array came tumbiling down; but the glass, worth $50, was the only loss. The rock was thrown from acroas the street, but strangely enough no one has been found who saw the man behind the missile.

Two Evening Fires.

Fire of unknown origin partially destroyed the cottage of A. Pisthauser at No. 247 North Hope street at 7:30 o'clock last evening. The loss on the building was $500, and on the contents $500, fully covered by insurance. Half an hour later, a small frame store building in the Santa Fé yards, near La Grande station, used by the Harvey restaurant system, was ignited from an unknown source. The loss on the building was $150, and on the contents $100.

Notice to Repair Building.

Julius W. Krause, city building in spector, will today serve notice on J. V. Ernest, owner of a one-story frame building at No. 1321 Temple street, that the building is in such condition as to endanger life, and that he must begin repairing it within ore week from date of notice, or the city will proceed to make the tepairs and charge the cost against the property. Mr. Krause says the old building has been vacant for six months, and is in such a condition that if any one were to enter it the floor would give way.

NOW IS TOLD WHOLE PLOT.

Origin and Pushers of Late Anti-Elton Crusade.

Started at Time of the Desperate Stree :- car Strike.

Huntington's Discharged Lieutenant Wanted Vengeance. Criminal Gang's Scheme.

T IS time to tell the whole story of the exposed and "busted" plot to oust Chief of Police Elton. Its acts are seven stages, viz.: (1.) Failure of the union agitators to make a terrifying demonstration of power by tying up the street-car lines and paralyzing business during cotters to punish Chief Elton for his active part in suppressviolation of law.

(3.) Dismissal of one of Huntreason that he "stood in" with employé to become Chief of Police in order that he might let loose the dogs on Huntington and "get even" with him. (5.) Enlistment of the Record and then the Herald in a campaign against the Chief, .in furtherance of the unionists' scheme to make this a "wideopen town," for law breaking

(6.) Uprising of the business men of Los Angeles against this mischievous plot to give free rein to the throttlers of industry and promoters of vio-

campaigners knocked as flat as if a thousand of brick had the campaign against Chief of Police Charles Elton would be incomplete and unintelligible without a review of the events which led up to the fortunate events which led up to the fortunate result.

The outcome marks the most noteworthy triumph of the law-abiding majority over the vicious minority in Los Angeles. The community is to be congratulated, as the patriolism, intelligence and vigor shown by the citizens whose uprising accomplished the result, are assurance of the public weal. The rout of the hypocritical conspirators against law, order and industrial freedom shows plainly that the people of this community cannot easily be deceived, and are quick and vigorous to act in defense of the principles which have made Los Angeles the wonder city of the United States.

OF FOREIGN BIRTH

OF FOREIGN BIRTH.

The plot to overthrow industrial liberty and subjugate Los Angeles to union labor rule was of foreign origin, as foreign as the very basic principles and methods of the organized conspirators. During the year of its progress in this city the programme of the anarchist-socialist-unionist cityue has received set-back after set-back, but the defeat of the campaign to remove Chief Elton is the greatest of them all. Elton has successfully repulsed every advance of the enemies of public peace and he will continue to be an insurmountable barrier to disturbers just so long as he is backed by the people.

The antagonism of the union labor disturbers developed into a positive campaign for Elton's removal with the attempted street car "strike." The impotent local Biddle-Hay-Gray gang stirred up the professional agitators who had prostrated San Francisco to such an extent that the trlumphant northern anarchists were induced to aid in making Los Angeles a union town. To that end several of the most notoriously unscrupulous criminals in all the San Francisco bunch were sent here, brimming with confidence.

STAKED THEIR ALL.

STAKED THEIR ALL.

Ignorant of the wholesome public sentiment against their lik prevalent in Los Angeles, these imported agitators, in conjunction with the local crowd, mapped out a plan that they felt sure would speedily unionize all industry here. The first of several acts on the programme was a demonstration of strength to attract national attention, and the fact that the annual Flesia celebration and visit of the President were at hand, the time was deemed particularly appropriate. The agitators banked greatly on the reluctance of the patriotic people to have the President's visit and the cherished festival marred by violent evidences of dissatisfied laboring classes. They staked their all on this throw. Reckoning that stoppage of the great electric car systems here would be productive of more public inconvenience than any other variety of strike, foolishly believing that once tied up, public demand that the carnival be not interfered with would force Huntington to submit to their domination, and rightly aware that a car strike would be most apt to induce rioting and terror, the gang deliberately inaugurated a campaign for a walk-out of the satisfied employes on the cars.

How ignominiously they failed the who Describes the Sensation of Being Grasped by a Burglar.

their lawbreaking were thunderstruck when they could not threaten, cajole or deceive into slighting his duty. They were also enraged and desperate over the exposition of their impotence for harm when they were confronted with simple law, properly enforced. In the consultation which followed the fizzle of the "strike" the plotters decided the most important feature of a successful strike is a subservient police department, and that Elton must be removed before lawless unionism could make any progress in Los Angeles. Having had a plenitude of experience with the results of lawless trade-unionism in San Francisco, Mr. Huntington successfully opposed the organization of his men here from the very beginning of his operations in Southern California. tem during La Fiesta was conducted with the secrecy usual to crime, and the ratiroad builder was put to great trouble and expense in counteracting the machinations of the organizers who were polluting the minds of his contented employes.

The fight against disturbance revealed the fact that one of the high employes was proving a traitor to the corporation by offering aid and comfort to the outside meddiers. Mr. Huntington immediately notified his unfaithful lieutenant that his services were not needed longer, but graciously-saved the man his reputation by simply announcing his "resignation." This man was C. E. Donnatin, former superintendent of mechanical construction for the Los Angeles Railway Company.

DONNATIN'S AMBITION.

Since that time Donnatin has been active in the campaign against Chief Elton, his animus being a desire for chief of Police, though he possessed no qualification in the way of experience, and was absolutely disqualified in that he wanted the position to wreak personal revenge by embarrassing Huntington, and was in league with the union-labor gang, who were the most dangerous enemies of the city's welfare.

And it will come to pass on the next Monday morning that there will be several vacant chairs in the Council, prescent, and they will be draped in mortal by erecting a new library building.

Truly, this is a horrible picture of the fate that awaits the Councilmen. But Miss Mary L. Jones, librarian, holds out only a slight hope to the nine law-makers who have thus far neglected to make themselves im-mortal by erecting a new library build-ing.

Compared to this threatened danger the historical sword of Damocles was suspended by a half-inch hemp rope. It is true that Miss Jones will not say for publication that she thinks it necessary for a house to fall on the Councilmen before they grasp an idea, but present activities in the libraries indicate that such is the case. The fact that the floors in the libraries indicate that such is the case. The fact that the floors in the library were not intended to support the weight of books has been ofted stated. Yesterday Miss Jones showed a reporter how the floor in one room quivers and shakes every time a person walks across it. It so happens that this room is just above the committee-room on the second floor where the Councilmen deliberate on grave matters concerning the welfare of the coming metropolis of the great Southwest.

This shaky floor now supports the weight of ponderous tomes, many times heavier than the timbers were expected to withstand. Of course the library contains a great amount of light literature—poems on spring, hovels and novelettes. But none, of this class of books are stored above the heads of the Councilmen. Instead there are great scientific treatises on the laws of gravitation, the acceleration of falling bodies, what happened when Samson pulled down the pillars of the temple, and other cheerful subjects, illustrative of the possible "finish" of the City Fathers.

"Today another big case of books is to be placed on this already overcrowded floor, and by virtue of necessity it must be placed on that very spot where the symptoms of collapse are most pronounced.

But Miss Jones does not have a bit of sympathy for the unhappy legis.

are most pronounced.

But Miss Jones does not have a bit of sympathy for the unhappy legislators. She says the threatened dander might be easily averted by the construction of a new library. In fact, none of the library officials have any patience with the latest scheme of the Councilmen to build a small addition on the rear of the City-Hail lot for the use of the health, education and water departments. They point out that if the library was removed to another building there would be plenty of room in the City Hall for all purposes.

e have talked and talked about a

"We have talked and talked about a new library building," said Miss Jones yesterday, "and I think it is about time for something to be done. We have actually reached the very limit of our resources as far as housing books is concerned, and if the library is to keep up with the city and maintain its present position among the libraries of the country, new quarters must be provided. It's a plain case and there are no two ways about it," and Miss Jones came as near stamping her foot as that accomplished lady ever does. "We are cramped now until good work is very difficult, and there is no room to place new books or to store the old. The library has expanded to the basement and to the garret. The city is growing at a rapid rate. A library building must be provided sooner or later. Why should not the citizeps vote bonds now for the construction of a suitable building? The city of the future must pay its proportion of the bills. The objection has been made that there are too many bond issues outstanding now. But I believe I am correct in saying that this city is very much richer than eastern cities that have a larger bonded in-cities that have a larger content indebtedness.

"A new library building we must have, and the sooner the better."

There is every indication that the library board will make a determined effort this fall to have the Council submit to the voters a bond issue of about 490,000 for the construction and equipment of a library in Central Park. And the legislators had better be careful how they refuse for if they do, a house may fall on them.

LOOKING FOR SITE.

The location of the Polytechnic High School site is giving the Council-men considerable concern. The problem is to find a site large enough and centrally located for the amount of money that is to be devoted to the purchase of land. Since the bonds were voted the cost of property near the center of the city has advanced materially and the city has advanced materially and in consequence of the new High School will be located at some little distance from the businss district.

In making their plans the City Fathers allowed $20,000 for the purchase of the ground and $15,000 for the construction of the school building. It is contended that a site less than 200 feet square would be too small. None of the sites along Tenth and Eleventh streets under consideration when the bonds were voted can now be purchased for less than $50,000 to $100,000.

Principally for this reason it appears about as good as determined that the High School will be located in the Sixth Ward where ground can be purchased for a less price than west of Main street. It also seems evident that the school will be built as far south as Washington street. Owingto the lack of cross-town car lines this location will doubtless meet with some opposition, but five Councilmen are said to favor a site in this section.

No further progress has been made in the sale of the bonds as far as the city is concerned. City Treasurer Workman is waiting for the completion of the formalities before starting for the North to make the delivery of the securities.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

SOME VITAL STATISTICS. The September report of the Board of Health, prepared by Clerk W. H.

The September report of the Board of Health, prepared by Clerk W. H. McGill, has just been completed. It shows 193 deaths for the month as compared with 148 last year. The annual death rate on this basis is 14.2 per 1000. There were forty deaths from tuberculosis, three from typhoid fever and two from diphtheria. Two persons died from ptomaine poisoning and eight from pneumonia. Diseases of the brain carried away thirteen persons, inanicarried away thirteen persons, inanicarried away thirteen persons, inanicarried away thirteen, excitedes four and accidents thirteen, excitedes for an accidents thirteen, excitedes of the city, and 9 of the three Pacific Coast States outside of Los Angels; city, leaving 155 from other parts. Of 193 deaths 29 had lived here less than three months, 18 between three and six months, 38 between one and five years, 28 between five and ten years, 50 over ten years, 4 for life, and 15 unknown. There were forty deaths from tuberculosis, divided as follows: Natives of Los Angeles, 1; natives of the Pacific Coast outside of Los Angeles, 9; from other parts, 39; of the 40 deaths from tuberculosis 4 had lived here less than three months, 1 between three and six months, 4 between six and twelve months, 16 between one and five years, 5 between five and ten years, 11 over ten years, 11 life, unknown, 0.

There were 198 births reported during the month September was the second month in the history of the office when the births reported exceeded the number of deaths. Physicians are now more generally observing the law requiring birth reports.

Garland Testifies that He Was Worth Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand Not Salable

to the witness stand in Judge Conrey's

The most interesting thing that came out during the whole day's session was the account of a scene that happened Crocker heirs came down from Sar Francisco to call him to account. -What he told them then and what he swore to yesterday when his cross-examination was in progress did not tally in all particulars what is it you want to ask?" said Garland.

"Who did you sell it to?" asked Buckby, Garland said he sold it to Hinman. He said his father-in-law had told him to look out for a good buy for him.

"Oh, then you considered this a cheap piece of property," said Buckby frostily. (The Crockers claim that Garland sold the property to himself, using Hinman for a dummy, for $25,000, when he knew it was worth $40,000.)

"No, but I considered it a good buy," said Garland.
Buckby: Why did you say you sold

Buckby: Why did you say you sold it to Schweppe if you sold it to Hinman? Garland: Gentlemen. I decline to answer any more questions. You have come here all primed and cocked. I want time to think it over. He finally said, however, that he did sell it to Schweppe. He said, how-ever, that Schweppe could not raise the money to take the buy.

THE TALK AS BUCKBY TELLS IT The funniest part was about the de-posit. Garland swore on the stand dur-ing the morning that he had taken no deposit from Schweppe, as he was will-ing to stand good for him himself. This is what Buckby says he said then:

then: Buckby: Was there a deposit made on this sale?
Garland said he had taken $2500 as Garland said he had taken $2500 as deposit.

"How did you get it?"
Garland: I took it in cash.
"What did you do with it?"
"Put it in the safe."
Buckby asked him to show the book entry of the deposit. Garland said he did not keep any books.
They then asked to see Schweppe. Garland said he didn't see any use of their seeing Schweppe. They insisted, and he went out to summon him. Garland stayed out of the room about ten inducts. Mr. Schweppe then came back with him.
They asked Schweppe if it were he who bought the Maxwell property.

next door to the now famous corner of Sixth and Main streets. "Oh, yes," he said, "I bought that." (Gariand now says that he himself was the purchas-er, says that Schweppe merely held the property in trust for him.) They asked Schweppe if he got the profit on this Maxwell property when ald Schweppe.

"How much did you get?" "I don't remember now."
"Haven't you any record of it?"
"Yes, in my personal books?"
"Will you go into the other office and get those that we may see the entries?"

Garland's lawyer, Clarence Miller, Esq., gave him a chance to tell the other side of the story on cross-exam-

"Why did you not tell the Crockers ou yourself were the purchaser of the "I considered that I had done them "I considered that I had done them a favor to tell them it was sold at all," said Garland tartly. "I do not see why I was under any obligations to tell the Crockers what property I bought."

Mr. Miller asked solicitously: "Is it customary for real estate agents, when they purchase property for investment, to conceal such purchases?"

"It isn't customary to shout it from the housetops."

the housetops."
The next thing Garland was asked about was the mythical deposit of $2500 he said he put in the safe when the house. was purchased, ostensibly by Schweppe.
"Why did you excuse Schweppe from depositing that money?" asked Miller. "I was willing to carry him for that amount," said Garland. "He was an interest of mine I took an intimate associate of mine. I told him it was not necessary for him to put up intinate associate of mine. I told nimit was not necessary for him to put up the money."

To show that he was able to stand good for the amount without any possibility of loss to the Crockers, Garland said he was worth at that time between $100,000 and $125,000.

This whole case is based on the Crockers' contention that Garland sold the property to himself for $25,000 when it was worth $40,000. Garland swore yesterday the property was only worth $25,000.

He said he tried to sell it a great many times and falled. He said that he took H. J. Woollacott to see the property once, and he refused to give even $20,000 for it. A letter was introduced to show that the Crocker agents urged him to get as much as $27,000 for the property, and did not claim then it was worth $40,000.

Dank checks were also introduced to show that Garland's father-in-law had actually paid $25,000 to Garland for the property. Garland swore that Mr. Himman, the father-in-law, was not a dummy in any senge of the word is the transaction, but an actual pur-Mr. Hinman, the father-in-law, was not a dummy in any senge of the word in the transaction, but an actual purchaser. He told what has become of the $30,000 Hinman made out of the investment. He said Hinman told him he might have all over $20,000 he could make on the investment.

It was desired to know, if the transaction were valid, why the property was shuffled back and forth between Hinman and Schweppe.

"Why did your father-in-law, Mr. Hinman, deed this property back to D. Schweppe after be bought it?"

"That was merely for convenience in handling it," said Garland. "Mr. Schweppe held my property next door in trust."

"Was anything paid in this transfer?"

"Nothing: it was merely formal."

"Nothing; it was merely formal." Garland was asked how, then, the leed had on it revenue stamps to in-licate a consideration of $37,000

"Yes, sir."
Mr. Hunsaker rummaged around in the papers and produced the first answer that was fied.
"Did you swear to this?"
"Tes."
"Read it over before you swore to

"Tes."

Mr. Hunsaker then read from the answer a paragraph in which Garland denies that he informed the Crockers that Schweppe was the purchaser, also denies that Schweppe was the person who made the offer mentioned on the property.

Mr. Hunsaker handed him the paper, saying: "You find that there, do you not?"

Garland read it over gloomly and you not?"

Garland read it over gloomily and said: "Yes, it is there."
"And you swore to it?"
"Yes, sir," said Garland, in a low voice.

"That is all," eaid Mr. Huneaker, more in sorrow than in anger.

Mr. Miller, by questions to Garland, explained it all, however. It seems that he made an error in hastily drawing up the answer. He said that the offer, not made by Schweppe, referred to a previous offer made by another person. Cariand said that the parakraph of the shewer was a mistake on the part of the attorney, who misunderstood him.

They were on the hunt for the person or persons who robbed a man on the previus night and took from his person, among other thines a watch upon the face of which was an American flag. As a result of the meeting at Yuma, a water users' association is already in process of formation at that point. At Turson Mr. Maxwell stated that while he was in favor of Statehood as an abstract proposition, he believed it would be far better for Arisona to remain a Territory for three or four years more, while her great water storage possibilities were being developed by the Federal government. The Territorial administration is and would remain in full sympathy with the national administration, a condition that would not be bettered with Statehood and the possible election of officials antagonisticto the national administration.

tinguished by a large and enthusiastic attendance. A few graceful words of greeting and advice were given by the president, Mrs. Hendrick. Then followed the examination of and rejoicing over a beautiful gift to the club, a large and artistically framed copy of Sargent's frieze of the Prophets from the wonderful mural decorations of the Boston Public Library. This beautifully colored copy was presented by Mrs. J. F. Kanst, and it will be added to the treasures of the club. The members then proceeded to examine the new books pertaining to their artistudy for the coming year. Pictorial composition and the principles of articiticism, as presented in the writings of Henry R. Foore, was the gist of a delightful little talk by Miss A. G. Wadleigh. Mrs. W. R. Myers read some inspiring extracts from the Building of a Picture" by Frof. W. L. Judson of the University of Southern California. Mrs. W. H. Housh briefly reviewed Van Dyke's "Art for Art's Sake" and "The Meaning of a Ficture." she also spoke of "Delight, the Soul of Art." An honored member of the club, Mrs. M. J. F. Stearns, was welcomed back after a year's absence. Mrs. Stearns spoke to the club of the promise of art for the World's Fair in St. Louis next year, Prof. Ives predicting much finer results than at the former World's Fair in Chicago.

Wednesday Morning Club.

The opening meeting of the Wednesday Morning Club, at its old quarters at the Second Congregational Church, began at 9:30 yesterday morning and was a bright and breezy affair in spite of the fact that many of the members were not present. After an hour of strict attention to the business before the club, the regular programme was begun by a happy little speech from Mrs. Brett, the president. She gave to the club two mottoes, which embodied the whole spirit of the Wednesday Morning Club, "I am Ready," and "I Serve." A beautiful vocal selection called, "A Dream," was given by Miss Cahen, accompanied by Miss Lthel Keyes, Mrs. F. E. Pryor, vice-president, Los Angeles district of C.F.W.C., brought the members in touch with ederation work in an impressive little falk, Mrs. E. D. Park, not being present, Mrs. Kimball of the music section read an instructive paper from Mrs. Park.

After a brilliant piano solo by one of the pupils of the club, Miss Geraldine Conklin, Mrs. Brett introduced Mrs. E. M. Greenleaf, who is to take charge of the Shakespeare study of the club, and Mrs. Lou V. Chapin, who will lead the sipdy of current events. These ladies each delivered an address scintillating with wit and happy suggestions. The programme ended with another vocal selection from Miss Cahen.

LONG CONTROVERSY ENDED.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 7 .- A long controversy which was, in fact, one of the issues in the last political campaign, was brought to an end yesterday aftermon by the Board of Public Library Trustees, when Mrs. H. P. Davidson, the former assistant librarian, who has been acting librarian since Miss Mry aE. Walker left, was elected head librarian. Mrs. Horton resigned as sec-retary of the board, and Mrs. Davidson was chosen for that position also. It is almost impossible to secure

It is almost impossible to secure teachers for the district schools. Clover, Eastside and Bear Valley are vacant. An effort will be made to obtain teachers from the North.

Coöperative operations in pickling olives and manufacturing oil will be commenced in the old Kimbail mill at National City next week. Dr. A. V. Bills is president of the new enterprise. There are two or three mills in this county, but they have not been able to utilize all the olives grown in the various sections, and many growers have been compelled to discard that branch of fruit-raising.

At the inquest this evening in the case om the sailor whose body was taken from the bay vesterday, Capt. Ledyard of the ship Scottish Moors, now at this port, positively identified the dead man as Alexander Jarvenberg, a Finn, who had been one of the crew of that vessel. The medical testimony showed that the deceased had been struck a terrible blow over the head. Evidence was also given showing that Jarvenberg had had quarrels with other sailors. The inquest is not concluded.

A N AUTHORITY on the subject has declared that there is no greater cruelty, no greater crime against humanity, than that of non-recognition and scorn of eye-strain. Headache, "sick headache," "dyspepsia," "nervounces," melancholia, insomnia, indescribable suffering—these were some of the more prominent symptoms that, in various mixtures, rendered so miserable the lives of De Quincey, Carlyle, Darwin, Huxley, Browning, Spencer, Wagner and other persons less known to fame.

Eye-strain in children should be noticed at once and sulfably treated. Many children are met with who blink incessantly, and for this involuntary habit they are often punished by ignorant parents or guardians. The blinking is due to some error of refraction in the eye, and the consequent effort made in accommodation, or, in less technical phrase, focussing on the retina or optic nerve the objects which the child is looking at.

A NOTHER candid housewife craves leave to free her mind anent the economical menus that made so much stir some weeks ago. By the way, "E. D." and her "pointers," showing by what means four dollars may be made to cover a week's board for four people, are still unheaved from. When she speaks we may have something on the other side as lively as the protest given below:

the season, besides all the small essentials of housekeeping, such as soap, starch, matches, etc.

"We have meat twice each day, as my husband feels the need of it for his day's work—except once a week a little codfish, freshened and minced with cream or milk. I siways buy first-class meats, a porterhouse steak, costing 18 or 20 cents, its sufficient for two persons, the tender part serving for the dinner at night, the tougher part, which I have seen some housekeepers throw away, will, with care, make a delicious hash for the next morning's breakfast. We do not have many roasts, as my husband is not willing I should roast myself the best part of the afternoon when somethin; else will do as well.

"We have all the verries, from strawberries down, each in its season, and by watching my oportunities I have canned considerable fruit for winter's use.

"It is not so much the cost of the food in the market as the carefulness in buying and the skill and judgment in preparing it for the table that tells on one's income, and there is no difficulty whatever in supplying one's table on four dollars a week. Indeed, I think I could do with less and leave out the cereals and mush, too.

RECIPES

Cucumber Pickles (Small).

Pack, with alternate layers of salt, in a stone jar. When the jar is full cover with cold water, laying a heavy plate on top to prevent floating. Leave thus for the stone of the same stone of thus for two weeks, stirring up from the bottom with your hand every other day. A stick or spoon would bruise them.

At the end of the time strain off the brine and pick over the cucum-bers, rejecting all that are at all soft. Sonk the perfect in cold water for a day; throw this away; cover the cucumbers with fresh water and soak ther twenty-four hours.

Now line a porcelain or agateware kettle with green grape leaves, pack in the cucumbers evenly, strewing a salt-spoonful of powdered alum upon each layer. Cover with cold water; spread three thicknesses of grape leaves over fall; fit on a tight cover and heat slowly to scalding. They must not boil, but simmer (barely) during three hours, never once bubbling. Again drain the pickles and drop one at a time into iced water. Leave them Then drain carefully, pack into a jar and pour over them pickle made in the following proportions: One gallon of vinegar, one cupful of sugar, three dozen whole black pep-pers, two dozen whole cloves, eighteen whole allspice and twelve blades of whole allspice and twelve blades of mace. Heat to boiling before covering the cucumbers with it. Put on a close cover and set in the cellar. In a month scald the vinegar and cover the cucumbers again with it. They will not be fit for use under three months, and they will keep for ten years.

Fried Chicken.

Cut up the chicken as usual; put t into the steamer and steam until a ork goes through it easily. Do not put too much water under it. Use the gravy to help fry it when it is tender. Have your frying-pan hot and plenty of beef suet tried out and hot to fry it in. Put the chicken in and turn in some of the liquor which has dripped from the steamer, ad-ding a little from time to time. Keep

LIVING AND WAGES. The Bureau of Labor is about to issue the result of an exhaustive study of the increased cost of living during the last few years in relation to the increase of wages. The result of this inquiry shows that wages have so fully kept pace with the increased cost of living that it may safely be said that the condition of the laboring man is better today than ever before in the history of the country.

FRUIT SEASON CLOSING. A New Tork journal, in commenting upon the closing of the deciduous fruit season in California, says; "About six thousand cars have come East, including all varieties, and only 700 to 800 cars, consisting principally of grapes, remain to come forward. It is probable that when the reports are all in it will be found that shipments from the State will be about the same as last year. This will be a disappointment for growers and shippers expected a material increase. The returns are more satisfactory. Even though shipments will only equal those of last season, the prides paid will yield growers about one-third more in money. Record prices have been made by a number of varieties this season and prices have held up remarkable well on all desirable qualities of any fruit."

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 7.-Justice of the Peace W. S. Millard of Bakers-field township today filed a claim with the Board of Supervisors for $405 for fees, which he now claims as his just compensation for the discharge of his official duties, instead of the salary of $125 a month, which it is provided by law he shall receive. The case has been referred to the District Attorney, and will undoubtedly be carried into the Justice Millard claims that the County Government Act of 1897 is unconstitutional, in that it provides for a classification of townships and bases the compensation of township officials on population. This provision is applicable to many countes in California, and should the contention of Justice Millard prevail it will be far reaching in its effect in that it will do away with all salaries for township officers, wing them the fees provided by large gving them the fees provided by law As showing the difference in the cost to the county, Justice Millard's bill for September reaches $405, reckoned ac-cording to the old law that provided for fees. Under the present law his an-mual salary is $1500.

TLES ACTIVE ROOMING-HOUSE,

Trouble Over Casa Grande Lease Comes to Climax With Removal of All Furniture by the Owner, When Lessee Refused to Leave.

Cyclonic methods are all that are offective in moving some people. At least that's the experience of Dr. William Brill, who has had to tear out the furnishings of a whole rooming-house in a last endeavor to make unwelcome ofigers vacate.

Dr. Brill owns the "Casa Grande," Dr. Brill owns the "Casa Grande," located on Grand ave., near Seventh street. The property has been occupied by Mrs. Nona Carsley, lessee, 'who refused to pay an increase of rent demanded by the landlord, and who likewise refused to vacate the premises. Dr. Brill also owns the furnishings, and Tuesday afterneon he came around and yanked up the carpets, carried out the 'chairs, neon he came around and yanked up the carpets, carried out the chairs, washstands and bureaus, and left the place a general mecking desolaton.

Now it appears as if the joke were on Dr. Brill, for Mrs. Carsiey will probably rent unfurnished rooms, and still hold onto the house.

Mrs. Carsiey's strong hold is a certain lease in her possession, given by Dr. Brill in September, 1962. This document reads as follows: "This is to certify that Mrs. Nona Carsiey can have the premises at No. 647 South Grand avenue at a monthly rental of 1900 as long as she wants them. This lease is not transferable to any one whatsoever."

appointed superintendent of construction of the Home Telephone Company and wil have charge of the work which expired in May, 1902.

Mrs. Carsley claims that she will not have the least trouble in proving the truth of her claims concerning the honesty of the peculiar "lease" which she now holds. She will not be allowed to refurnish the house until the suit is settled, and so now it is a desolate pile of bare rooms and echoing hall-ways, mockingly relieved by a plano and a few pictures.

Dr. Brill asserts that he has done everything within reason to effect a quiet settlement. He alleges that not a cent of rent has been paid for the months of July, August and September, and that even under these conditions he offered the tenant $1000 in cash to clear out, and make him no further trouble. She accepted the proposition, he avers, and when he went down to make the final arrangements, she raised him to $2000. Objecting to being held up, he took a wrathful leave, and called in the Sheriff.

There were about thirty roomers at the Casa Grande, and for these to be routed out of their quarters was tough. There were some strenuous objections, and one old man threatened to bring a lawsuit, according to leyewitnesses.

Meanwhile, the roomers have been thrown out; Mrs. Carsley holds the fort with an empty house; Dr. Brill hangs onto some old carpets and furniture; and the future is a big question mark.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TI

VENTURA, Oct. 7.—An interesting suit to quiet title to valuable farming property has been filed. Mrs. Harriet A. Baldwin, who was Harriet A. Baldwin, who was Harriet A. Barr, has sued W. F. Dennison and his wife. Florence May Dennison, the stake being the old Sanborn ranch near Santa Paula, worth $20,000. Florence Dennison is a daughter of Mrs. Baldwin. The complaint alleges that defendant has always been the plaintiff's favorite, and that she has already been given by deed from the plaintiff the property known as the Rotzler place, valued at $10,000. It is alleged that on December 15 last year the plaintiff conveyed by deed to defendant the Sanborn place, and that the deed was placed with J. deed to defendant the Sanborn place, and that the deed was placed with J. B. Titus for safekeeping; that on B. Titus for safekeeping; that on January 17 plaintiff married J. M. Baldwin, and that the marriage was unhappy and the parties separated; that the defendant told plaintiff that it would be necessary to transfer her property to avoid litigation with her husband; that thereafter the property was transferred, and the deed to the the defendants, but was given to B.
T. Williams for keeping. Now plaintiff alleges that she has made demands for this deed, but that her demand has been refused. Plaintiff prays that the deed be canceled by order of the court and declared null and void lared null and void, and that in the land in question be Blackstock & Orr are attor-plaintiff. OFF RAILROAD MAP AGAIN.

For some unknown reason the Southern Pacific, after it had stopped its limited trains at Ventura for a few days, cancelled the order, and again threw the town off the railroad map. The citizens have again taken up the matter of waiting on the railroad authorities to plead with them to include the town among the stopping places, and to that end the Board of Trade has appointed a committee to confer with railroad people. Perhaps a trip will be made to San Francisco to meet, the Southern Pacific big guns. The committee is composed of E. P. Foster, J. S. Collins, John McGonigle, L. Harzfelt, John Lagomarsino, and D. J. Reese.

LLOYD-FRANCIS.

An interesting society event was the marriage this morning of Mrs. Myrtle Lloyd, daughter of W. E. Shepherd of this place, and W. H. Francis, a well-known San Francisco traveling man. They were married in their own home, a beautiful nest Mr. Francis has just completed at Chestnut and Poli g'ecets. Rev. Rogers of the Presbyterian Church was the officiating minister. The wedding was a quiet affair, none but intimate friends of the couple and relatives being present. Mr. and Mrs. Francis took the train for Santa Barbara immediately after the cerpnony, where they will take the steamer for San Francisco.

VENTURA NOTES.

At the meeting of the Board of Town Trustees a bid was received from the Adams-Phillips Company for the $1200 of sewer bonds voted at a former election. There was an accompanying offer of $1 as premium. The board was not a little surprised at the amount of premium offered, and promptly turned down the proposition. The board thought the offer should at least include accrued interest. The board then, after granting another liquor license, fixed the tax levy at $1 for the coming year.

EXPRESS THIEF DROPPED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 7.—Ever since the burglary of the Wells-Fargo office here about three weaks ago, the public has been much interested in the crime, and has hazarded many guesses as to the identity of the thief. The circumstances of the burglary pointed to either a very clever operator, or else some one connected with the office. for the thief ehtered by the back door, which opens with a Yale lock, and used the combination of the safe, taking out over a thousand dollars. Chief of Detectives Hune and Detective Thacker of the company came to Santa Barbara directly after the affair, and spent a couple of days investigating. Then they went to San Francisco, and the whole matter was hushed up as much as possible.

Since that time, every member of the local office force has been under a certain amount of suspicion, and men long in the service of the company have been looked at askance by their friends and acquaintances. In justice to these men, the news has been allowed to leak out that a young man who held a responsible position at the time of the burglary, has been discharged by the company and has left for the East. It is understood that the money taken was returned, and that the company will not prosecute. HOME 'PHONE CONSTRUCTION.

HOME 'PHONE CONSTRUCTION.

Alfred R. Poett of this city has been appointed superintendent of construction of the Home Telephone Company and wil have charge of the work which is to begin here almost immediately.

Mr. Poett has business interests in Los Angeles and San Francisco, but has never before been connected with a telephone company. Representatives of the Home company are on the lookout for a suitable site for the new exchange-building, and also for a large ware-

BUMPER FOR NORDICA.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Madame Nordica was thrown from her berth and badly shaken up in this city in the transfer of her car from one railroad yard to another. The noted singer was passing through the city en route from the west. While the special car was being switched the trainmen, not being aware that the car had an occupant, allowed it to crash into a bumper. The jolt sent the singer tumbling to the floor, but except for the shock she was not injured.

I never expected to see the time when I should be able to read an hour a day, drive an hour, have an hour occasionally for friends and church, and have my whole evenings free.

Police Court yesterday morning on the harge of vagrancy, gave the court and pectators a merry quarter of an heur. Officer Reynolds picked up Ogden Tuesday night after the last car had one to Los Angeles, as he found him rowing around the various railway tations in a suspicious manner, but it urned out the man only wanted to go ome to Los Angeles. It transpired pon examination that in a particularly lirty guise Ogden was masquering as n emissary of love—in fact, a sort of uppl. Although half a century oid, he sparently is not dead to sentiment, for cording to his story, afterward concorned, he came way out from Lasingles Tuesday evening to carry a terr to the sweetheart of a man name! anylor. He failed to find the house or lady, but he produced the letter in lart. It was written on the Angelus te paper, and directed to a very nice resident girl. He objected to the arge of vagrancy, as he was earning cents an hour as love's measuring rents an hour as love's measuring rents an hour as love's measuring rents and whole lot of others things in pocket, including some unpicked see, which he said he was saving for dog, a lady's side comb and a haif and of baby blue allk eigstie which

A thrilling event of yesterday, with that world-old flavor of romance about it, was the marriage at Santa Barbara of two young people highly esteemed by the business world of Los Angeles in general and by the Title Insurance and Trust Company in particular. Miss Lotta Platt and Charles L. Hall, both valued employes of that company, stole away yesterday morning to the great surprise of their friends, and were married at Santa Barbara at noon, without attendants, and without pomp and show of any kind. This was quite a disappointment, if a romance is ever disappointing, to the many interested in the young couple, who, being cognizant of the state of affairs, had thought to share in the happiness of its consumnation. Miss Platt, who had thought to share in the happiness of its consummation. Miss Platt, who is a dark-eyed, sparkling little beauty, entered the employ of the Title Insurance and Trust Company a little over two years ago, Mr. hall being already an employé, having come here originally from San Diego, where his parents had lived for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Hall will return to the city next Tuesday and will be located temporarily in Thirtieth Place near Vermont.

Chester Place Wedding.

Place.

The bride wore an effective gown of soft gray liberty satin embossed in velvet with exquisite garniture of old rose point and chiffon and she carried a trailing bouquet of white carnations and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Foxton will spend their honeymoon in San Prancisco and will then go to Riverside, which will be their home.

Pemona Wedding.

The marriage of Frederick Burton Liewellyn of this city and Miss Katharine Loney took place yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Loney, at No. 669 North Ellen street, Pomona. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Henry L. Badger, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Pomona. Just a few relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Liewellyn will be at home at No. 626 West Pico street, this city, after November I. The bride is a native of Pomona, while Mr. Liewellyn is a member of the composing-room force of The Times and is well known in Pomona. He was formerly in the newspaper service in the cities of Lyons and Rochester, N. Y. Several years ago he won a rare prize in a New York State competition of compositors.

In 1890 under the Wright Act, 40,000 acres of land in Tulare and vicinity were bonded for $650,000, for the purpose of irrigation development. The heavy burden impoverished the country. For a few years the taxes were paid and then the country became delinquent. These bonds were held by parties all over this country and Europe, but negotiations were opened for a settleat Bresee Bros.' morgue.

These bonds were held by parties all over this country and Europe, but negotiations were opened for a settlement, a compromise of $273,050 was agreed upon, a tax levied and the amount raised within—the past six months.

The Board of Trade of Tuiare City was the prime mover in this settlement, and now calls upon all of the inhabitants of California to come and help them celebrate. William Dye, the surviving membe of the Dye brothers, bankers of Alle gheney, N. Y., made an assignmen yesterday. The deposits in the bank amount to $220,000, and it is not expected that the loss to creditors will exceed ten cents on the dollar.
